

Hong Kong Immigration News

- Hong Kong housing price is the most expensive in the world. Why is it still bullish?
- Combine with Chinese and Western culture Visit diverse building
- Hong Kong traffic
- Hong Kong multiculturalism in colonial history
- One day life circle in Taiwan and Hong Kong

1. Hong Kong housing price is the most expensive in the world. Why is it still bullish?

Post Date : 2018-9-6

Hong Kong is an international financial centre, trade centre, air and maritime centre, also is a popular tourist city. Besides, Hong Kong and its surrounding areas are not active earthquake zones, there is no serious earthquake records in the past, that reduce the worries of immigrants.

In recent years, the demand of private housing has been increasing because of more and more immigrants. Also, banks are rushed to provide low interest mortgages which caused a short supply in Hong Kong. Despite the Hong Kong Government implemented various policies to combat the property market, the housing price are still rising. Meanwhile, Chinese developers actively bid for lands and break the price record, ultimately the housing price is going higher.

Based on the above factors, Hong Kong property is still hot in short term.

2. Combine with Chinese and Western culture Visit diverse building

Post Date : 2018-9-6

Architecture can show the temperament of a city.

The architecture in Hong Kong is a varied, rich, and diverse.

In addition to the continuous development of high-rise buildings, there is British colonial era monuments, ancient Chinese monuments, and combined architecture. Blue House Cluster, wins Award of Excellence of UNESCO Asia-Pacific Awards for Cultural Heritage Conservation, is a place that worth to be visited.

3. Hong Kong traffic

Post Date : 2018-9-6

Hong Kong located at the southeastern of Pearl River Port, and has developed into an international trading port and entrepôt with its strategic location and Victoria Harbour.

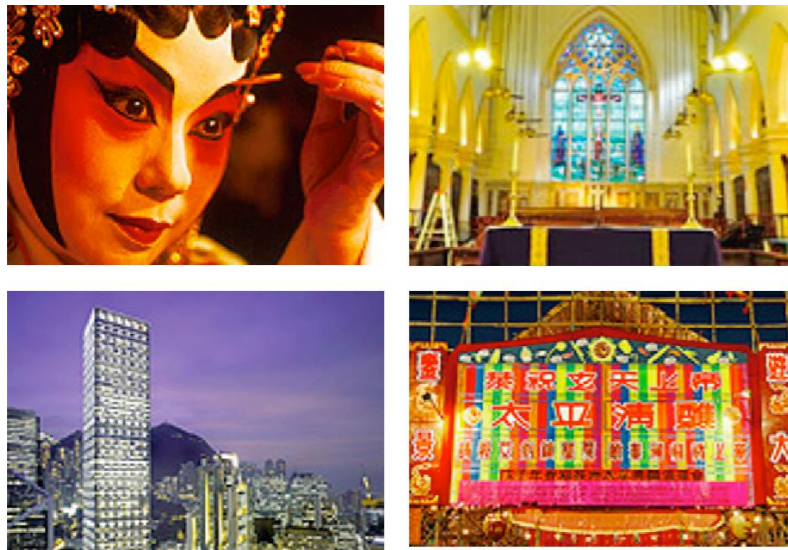

In the urban area, there is a convenient, safe and efficient public transport system, with subways, buses, taxis, cable cars, trams, and ferry for sightseeing.

Railway can be directly accessed from China with three direct routes: Beijing Line, Shanghai Line and Guangdong Line.

Hong Kong Island, Kowloon, and the Hong Kong International Airport have terminals to provide high speed ships to China, Macau, and Pearl River Delta.

4. Hong Kong multiculturalism in colonial history

Post Date : 2018-9-6

Hong Kong is an “World City” that combined ancient and modern, Chinese and Western. A hundred years ago, it was only a small village and returned to China after 99 years of British colonial rule. Under “One Country, Two Systems”, Hong Kong enjoys high degree of autonomy and retains its original capitalist system and legal system.

Because of colonial historical background and as an international trading port, it constitutes Hong Kong is a multicultural city.

The official languages of Hong Kong are Chinese and English, all official logo are in bilingual. hong Kong is a bustling city that combine different cultures and religions. People of different nationalities lives in harmony and respect each other. All religious and ethnic traditions and customs are mutually inclusive, reflecting the city's compatibility and diversity.

5. One day life circle in Taiwan and Hong Kong

Post Date : 2018-9-6

The climate in Hong Kong and Taiwan is similar, and on the same latitude as Kaohsiung, so the temperature in winter and summer is closed to Kaohsiung.

The flight duration is around 1 hours from Taipei to Hong Kong, the life circle between two places is closer.

The benefits of studying in Hong Kong not only because of the geographical proximity, but also with our any language barriers, that can quickly integrate into the new environment, enjoy quality education, and experience “British” education.

The multi-country visa-free beneficial is also convenient for children development in the future. Immigration status can also retain the original household registration.